New IIC Recognizes RSAC 2025 Launch Pad for Spotlighting Early Cybersecurity Innovation

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — New IIC recognized RSAC 2025 Launch Pad as a leading showcase for early-stage cybersecurity innovation. RSAC describes Launch Pad as a Shark Tank–style program where three finalists pitch bold ideas to industry veterans for feedback and awareness.

The 2025 finalists — Blue41, RunSybil, and The Hacking Games — presented live on April 29, 2025, before judges Sarah Guo, Barmak Meftah, and Enrique Salem during RSAC 2025.

“Launch Pad 2025 showed why early-stage startup platforms remain so important to the future of cybersecurity,” said Vince Kohli, New IIC. “It brought forward promising ideas and gave them visibility on one of the industry’s biggest stages.”

RSAC reported that its 2025 conference drew 43,500+ attendees, making Launch Pad a high-impact opportunity for emerging founders and technologies.

Press/Media Contact

Vince Kohli
New IIC

Gen AI Security and Emerging Cybersecurity StartUps